The Mitzvah of Outreach

First I'd like to wish everyone a Happy Purim. Purim this year Falls on The 17th of March which is a Thursday and we'll be celebrating it at Shabbat services on Friday night the 18th. In addition we are going to have a megillah reading on Thursday at 10 a.m. for those who would like to hear the scroll of Esther being read.

In January I wrote about the concept of a covenantal community and in February I spoke about the spiritual quest. This month I would like to talk about what would probably be the most important of our topics for our immediate purposes which is Outreach. Outreach refers to the practice of reaching out to people who are not currently practicing Judaism in the context of a synagogue. They may be lapsed Jews or they may not be Jews at all but they are people who have the potential to become involved with and committed to Judaism.

This past year we've taken some initial steps toward reaching out to people living north and south east and west everywhere west of Central Avenue. We've taken our Shofar on the Shofar Shuttle and our Hanukkah Menorah on the Eight Nights of Light. What was amazing about both of these efforts and other similar activities is just how much fun it was. We had an opportunity to share something very precious, something very close to us. Those who came to these activities seemed curious and eager to participate. They didn't have to commit their entire lives to the pursuit of holiness but rather could just absorb a little bit of Jewish spirituality in the context of a particular holiday celebration.

I argue that we have a Mitzvah to do Outreach. It is a Mitzvah to help people to see what Judaism can contribute to their understanding of their lives and of the world, of their relationships and of their work experiences, of their lives and of their death. It is also a Mitzvah to do Inreach, which is to do the same thing for those who are current members but may not quite understand what Judaism can offer them in terms of personal enrichment and the acquisition of religious wisdom. So Inreach and Outreach are two sides of the same coin. In both cases the goal is the same, engagement with the sacred tradition of the Jewish religion. Our goal is to prepare a carefully constructed set of steps to identify potential members and offer them a series of opportunities for interaction that can interest and Intrigue them as part of our Outreach planning. At the same time, we can evaluate them and decide which ones are sufficiently serious to warrant a greater outlay of energy and resources and then offer them more intensive programming that can dovetail with programming that we are offering for our own members to help us engage in successful Inreach.

CONTINUED MESSAGE FROM RABBI KAPLAN

The Mitzvah of Outreach

If we understand that what we are doing in our Temple is not just socializing but also doing something important connecting to the Jewish religion and taking the wisdom from Judaism and applying it to our lives, then we have a sacred mission to help others to also connect. Of course before we can reach out to others we have to be able to reflect ourselves on questions of purpose and meaning. If we're too busy putting out fires, we can't think about the existential questions that are so important in the larger scheme of things.

So we'll come back again and again to these existential questions. I'm not going to answer any of these questions right here now other than to say that we need to discuss and debate them. Some of these issues come up in a natural context in Torah study on Wednesday morning. others emerge out of informal discussions. Clearly we have to be together either physically or digitally for these interactions to occur because interaction requires more than one person communicating thoughts from different perspectives. so communication is key.

Once we can do that we're on our way, we don't have to wait till we solve all of the problems of the universe because we all know that we won't be able to solve even the smallest issue 100%. what is important is discussion dialog and problem-solving abilities. That is enough to begin to get out there and to see who is interested in participating in a covenantal community. That means doing a lot of listening as well as a little bit of talking. It means doing a lot of programming and not just in our building but throughout the entire West Valley.

NOTES FROM OUR CANTOR

“There are gates in heaven that cannot be opened except by melody and song.”

—Attributed to Rabbi Shneur Zalman of Liady (1745-1812), founder of the Chabad Lubavitch movement and one of its most famous composers. For this Rebbe, a melody was an outpouring from the individual human soul, whereas words only interrupted the stream of emotions. Furthermore, melodies with texts were limited in time because they ensued only as long as the words did. Conversely: “The song of the souls consists of tones only, dismantled of words.” The notes’ freedom allows them to reach a higher realm, the true cosmic level of the universe. The Hasidic nigun (wordless melody) has become a fundamental part of all Ashkenazi culture (of which the Reform Movement is a part) and is, in the words of one Hasidic master, “the pen of the soul.” A nigun has been described as a mystical musical prayer or a language beyond words. It is still vocal music but often with repetitive sounds such as “Bim-Bim-Bam”, “Lai-Lai-Lai”, “Yai-Yai-Yai” or “Ai-Ai-Ai” instead of formal lyrics. Sometimes, Bible verses or quotes from other classical Jewish texts are sung repetitively to form a nigun.

Nigunim are also performed in a distinctive expressive vocal style with dramatic inflections, as in cantorial music referred to by the Yiddish words krekhits (moan, sigh, or sob) and kneytsh (pinch). Hasidism regenerated the use of pure melody in Jewish music, most of which would be composed by the leader or rebbe of each distinct Hasidic group. There are nigunim for holidays, meals, dances, and others for individual meditation. When one intones a nigun individually, the act is called devekus or devukut (connecting with God). Rabbi Israel Baal Shem Tov (1698-1750), founder of Hasidism, is credited with emphasizing the importance of vocal music as a form of personal confession and spiritual expression called devekus nigunim, “songs that transcend syllables and sound.” Some tunes attributed to him are still being sung today.

The Hasidim also employed non-Jewish tunes, such as France’s La Marseillaise, Near-Eastern dances, Cossack songs, and German drinking songs. They believe that those melodies in their secular form, are in spiritual exile. By adapting them for liturgical use, the rabbis are “raising Holy Sparks.” They use the concept of tikkun (fixing), redeeming the songs to their religious state. This also was in keeping with system of Kabbalah system of Rabbi Isaac Luria (1534-1572) and continues in our own time. Yes, the medieval Jewish mystics had developed complex ideas about the theological and even magical power of music in the universe. However, subsequent rabbis generally took a decidedly cautious and negative attitude towards music for its own sake. Out of concerns about piety and the role of music in gentile religious and cultural traditions, they also generally discouraged the use of instrumental music in the synagogue and banned it altogether on Shabbat and holidays. Most crucially, they insisted that text mattered more than melody. Thus, in traditional liturgy and medieval religious poetry, individual melodies were frequently changed but the Hebrew and Aramaic texts were considered sacred and unalterable. With the emergence of the Hasidic movement in the 18th century, the elevation of music unfolded. The Hasidim turned to music and dance as powerful forms of Jewish religious expression.

Of course, the connection between music and Jewish prayer was not a wholly Hasidic invention. Music had always played a central role in Jewish religious life, a fact to which both ancient biblical texts such as The Book of Psalms and piyyutim (medieval liturgical songs) testify. The resurgence of song as a ‘shortcut on the path to God’ is as old as it is new. Reverence for the nigun and belief in its great spiritual power continues through the generations of Hasidic rabbinic dynasties, as encapsulated by Rabbi Nachman of Breslov (1772-1810): “Music originates from the prophetic spirit, and has the power to elevate one to prophetic inspiration” and “Song is the soul of the universe.” Accordingly, nigunim are usually sung at large gatherings of Hasidic rabbis when they come to sing together and discuss spiritual concepts. It is believed that when a specific nigun is sung, the rabbi who created it appears in the room. I can’t argue with that. I always get that ‘butterflies going in circles inside of me’ feeling when we sing a nigun together, ushering in love with The Light. There we have it!

Baruch Koritan

MESSAGE FROM YOUR PRESIDENT

Fay Henning-Bryant

What's All This Talk About Fundraising, Anyway?

Surely God is present in this place, and I did not know it!
Genesis 28:16

The above quote from the Torah refers to the place where we, as Jews, assemble to study, pray and meet – the synagogue. Initially, synagogues date back to the Babylonian Exile and were founded to house prayer meetings. It was there, during the beginning of the Diaspora, that the guidance and teachings of the prophets helped to form the basis of congregational life. Eventually the synagogue became the exclusive location for worship and a communal center for assembly and study. We don't have any precise information in the Tanach about who paid for the building and support of the early synagogue, but presumably it was through taxes of one kind or another. For this reason we must talk about why fundraising is so important for TBS at this time.

For those of you who have been contacted and have made a pledge (and, in many cases have already paid the pledge), we again thank you for your generosity and your continued caring about and support for our temple. If you haven't been contacted yet, you will be. The Fundraising Committee will be meeting in the next week or so to finalize how the remainder of the solicitation will be done.

We can skip forward a few thousand years to Germany in the 19th century where the roots of the Reform movement were taking place during the Age of Jewish Emancipation, and in the mid 1900's spread to the United States. Reform Judaism recognizes that our sacred heritage has evolved over the centuries and that in order for Judaism to survive, it must continue to evolve while also fulfilling its mission to be a center for worship, communal life, education, social action, and social service.

The Union for Reform Judaism (URJ), an organization of the Reform movement to which over 850 Reform congregations across North America – including Temple Beth Shalom of the West Valley has published a useful guideline for synagogue leaders: Managing the Sacred: A Guide for Synagogue Board Members. It identifies five traits – things we believe in or do - of the most successful Reform synagogues. None of these “traits” speak of the physical role of the synagogue building.

Synagogue members expect that a building will be part of a congregation. When we think “building,” we think of such things as a structure that is clean, comfortable, and safe (unfortunately, in today's world of antisemitism, this includes security guards at worship services and religious school); a Rabbi who has been successful leading the religious/spiritual/ritual aspects of a congregation and was ordained by one of our Reform rabbinic schools; a religious school for our children with qualified teachers; stimulating adult education programming; a well-managed administration; weekly Shabbat services, which includes good music lead by a cantor or professional song leader with a good voice; stimulating programs for adults; etc. The list could go on.

As I wrote above, in the early days of the synagogue, we assume the synagogues were initially financed and built, and then maintained by taxing the worshippers. The high priests may have had to survive from the sacrifices and offerings required of the worshippers, but it is unlikely they lived off of food stamps.

Continued Message From President Fay Henning-Bryant

Today we aren't too excited about the thought of being taxed to build and maintain our synagogue, or to pay for the educated and talented staff we want to make our synagogue a place that we find stimulating, welcoming, and appealing. We certainly know that in modern America there is no "Jew tax" that is levied against everyone who is ethnically, religiously, or culturally Jewish as a means of paying for the costs of our synagogues. It is left up to the diminishing numbers of us who continue to find value and meaning in synagogue membership.

Synagogue dues to help support our building. Some will argue that what we have traditionally called "dues" is a form of taxation, even though the type of dues programs in synagogues throughout the country is beginning to vary greatly. Most of us have resigned ourselves to the fact that dues, regardless of the type of program, are necessary. What many of us fail to accept is that in most Reform synagogues, including TBS, dues only cover 50% or less of the expenses required to maintain our synagogues. The balance has to come from donations – either outright giving or supporting congregational fundraising events.

So why is fundraising so important for Temple Beth Shalom now?

The COVID-19 virus has taken its toll on us in many ways, but a very serious effect of the virus is a significant loss of members. Although we are welcoming new members every week – people who want to get involved – we estimate that our income from dues will be approximately $55,000 less than budgeted this year. In addition, we have an old building, and since last fall we will have to spend over $31,000 more for building and equipment repair than we budgeted. Almost no fundraising was done the previous two years, during which time over $100,000 was taken from our savings account to pay temple expenses. Your Board has been very careful and is watching our expenses carefully this year, to be good stewards of your money given to TBS.

For this reason, we have engaged in a comprehensive fundraising program this year that has been very successful so far in keeping our doors open. Besides conducting fundraising events like the fantastic Klezmer Concert on February 20, the Junk-in-the Trunk (congregational yard sale in our parking lot) coming up on March 3 and 6, and the Mah Jongg tournament on April 24 (co-sponsored with Hadassah Tikvah-West Valley), we are in the middle of a very important, person-to-person appeal to every member of the congregation to make a cash donation to TBS by the end of June.

100% of the members of the Board of Directors committed to support this effort with their cash gifts before the campaign began. (I am pleased to report that 100% of these Board members also pledged to support the annual Yom Kippur appeal...and honored their pledges by December 31.) The 30% or so of our members who have been contacted so far have been overwhelmingly supportive of the effort and many have pledged more than was asked. I don't think we can even count on one hand members who had to decline to pledge or make an immediate donation. No one is being pressured to give. We understand that everyone's circumstances are different and there will be times when you want to give, but are unable to do so at this time. For those who can give, we consider every gift to be important, regardless of the amount.

I opened this monthly message with information about the significance of the synagogue in the history of the Jewish people, being recorded as early as in the Book of Genesis. It is our legacy and responsibility as modern Jews to ensure the existence of the synagogue for our members today and for the generations that will come after us. Mundane and cold as it may sound, it does take money to sustain our synagogues, and for all who are able to pay dues and make donations to sustain Temple Beth Shalom of the West Valley, you are accepting and continuing a sacred responsibility.

INVITATION TO JOIN THE WEEKLY TORAH DISCUSSION GROUP CURRENTLY ON ZOOM

March's Weekly Torah Discussions - every Wednesday in March at 11:00 a.m. on Zoom

This month we end the book of Exodus and begin the Book of Leviticus. Our weekly Torah Discussion group will be meeting every Wednesday in March on Zoom from 11:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. We will be reviewing:

From the book of Exodus:

March 2nd Parashat Pekedui, Perek Bet, The Obligation of Giving Charity, Tzedakah

From the book of Leviticus:

March 9th Parashat Vayikra, Perek Bet, Defining "Sin" is Jewish Tradition

March 16th Parashat Tzav, Perek Bet, The Holiness of Blood

March 23rd Parashat Shimini, Perek Alef, What Did Nadab and Abihu Do Wrong?

March 30th Parashat Tazri, Perek Alef, Biblical Medicine, Ritual and Ethics

New participants are always welcome to our free and lively study of the Torah. Led by Rabbi Kaplan, we read the text in English and consider the individual topics in each parashat. Throughout each section we cover the most important themes and then present the varying, and often clashing, opinions of Jewish interpreters throughout the ages. With each session we ask two basic questions: "What is the Torah session about?" and "What meaning can this Torah portion have for us?"

Please contact the TBS office to register for the discussion if you have not previously registered, Phone: 623-977-3240. A copy of the weekly text will be emailed to you.

HOT BIBLICAL TOPICS

In this 3-week course we will explore:
Controversial Issues as seen in the Bible

Class led by Rabbi Dana Evan Kaplan

Based on The Bible Now, Richard Elliott Friedman & Shawna Dolansky

Every Tuesday for 3 weeks

March 15th, 22nd and 29th From 10-11:00 AM on Zoom

We will look at what the ancient Bible teaches us about contemporary controversies. It includes fresh interpretations of texts that have been misused to justify both stringent and lenient positions on such topics capital punishment and a choice by class participants of additional topics such as homosexuality, abortion and environmental issues. Historically the bible has frequently been misunderstood, misquoted, mistranslated and misused. These hot topics will be discussed with particular respect for all attendees.

The Hot Issues in the Bible class will discuss & explore how we can – and cannot—use this ancient source of wisdom to address our most current and pressing issues.

Temple Beth Shalom Biblical Garden

March 2022

The Biblical Garden has served as a way to share the knowledge of plants and trees mentioned in the Bible. We also honor relatives and members of the Congregation whose donations started the Garden and who help to maintain it. In addition, our Religious School uses the Garden as an outside classroom.

Recently, we had our first “event” in the Garden. “Shabbat, Schnaps and Shekels” with Havdalah which took place in February. It was a small fundraiser. We brought in the round tables and chairs and placed a long table in the arbor for food and drink.

For me, the event was also a pilot project whether we can have future gatherings in the Biblical Garden. Microphones for a gathering and string patio lights in the trees for an evening event are options which could be used.

If you think of events for warm evenings and cool days where any aspect of the Temple can use the Garden, please let me know and I can help make it happen.

We already have a listing of all the media sources and contacts. We need to get our name and our events out to more people in the West Valley. We are also looking for members who like to take photographs – your cell phone photos will work – of any and all temple events. If you are at an event and see an interesting photo, snap it and send it in.

Adult Bar and Bar Mitzvah Program

For many different reasons, many Jewish adults did not become a bar or bat mitzvah at age 13, but now as adults would like to do so. Not only the ceremony itself, but the educational and social process of preparing can be a religiously rewarding experience for participants.

The adult bar and bat mitzvah program at Temple Beth Shalom (TBS) is actually a blend of bar or bat mitzvah and confirmation. Although the curriculum is somewhat flexible, it includes a substantial amount of study about Judaism as a system of thought and a way of life - an approach that would be consistent with a confirmation program. It also includes the development of certain ritual skills, so that each participant can read part of the service in Hebrew as well as read directly from the Torah itself, skills which were part of the traditional bar mitzvah educational program.

All TBS members over the age of 18 who have not previously become a bar or bat mitzvah are eligible for this program. This may include those who were raised in a classical Reform temple where there was no bar or bat mitzvah program, those who converted to Judaism as adults, women who were raised in a traditional synagogue where they were not allowed to become a bat mitzvah, and people in all sorts of other situations where they did not celebrate a bar or bat mitzvah as a child but would like to do so now as adults, or became a bar/ bat mitzvah as a child but would like to do so again as an adult. Participation in the program is limited to members of TBS.

The goals of this 9 month program are:

- Explore Jewish spirituality and religiosity in a mature context
- Learn about the Jewish worship service and how to lead Shabbat services
- Learn about the history and contents of the Torah and how the Hebrew Bible fits into historical Judaism and Reform Judaism today
- Improve knowledge of Hebrew and learn to read or chant from the Torah scroll
- Formulate personal thinking about Judaism and write a vision statement that can form the core of a speech or sermon to deliver

While there are no formal prerequisites, we would expect that a person beginning this nine month program will have a basic background in Judaism. They should be familiar with Judaism as a religion and the Torah as the foundational sacred document of our tradition.

The basic cost to enroll is $750, which includes the weekly class consisting of group discussion of selected text materials and study of basic Biblical Hebrew, as well as any individual meetings with the Rabbi. It does not include the cost of books.

Many people contribute to the Flower Bouquet & Food Basket Funds “in memory of **”, but did you know that you can also contribute to these funds “in honor of**” to help someone special celebrate a birthday, anniversary or any kind of simcha?

This is Sisterhood's major fundraiser. We use it to make donations to local food banks, but the major portion is given to our temple whenever a need arises, such as a copier, a computer and new kitchen appliances like a refrigerator and dishwasher. We are always there to help. Please help us by contributing.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

As most of you know, the success of Temple Beth Shalom has always been dependent on the efforts of our dedicated volunteers. Please don't wait to be asked! Schedules can be flexible and you will have the satisfaction of contributing to the greater good . . . Tikun Olum.

Temple Beth Shalom invites you to participate in the life of our congregation by being a volunteer. Every successful congregation has special people who give of their time and talent. While we are grateful for financial contributions, we are equally grateful for the dedicated volunteers who offer their valuable time and energy. To volunteer, to be active, is the way to meet people and be part of our Jewish family community.

HELP WANTED

Volunteers needed to work in the office 3 hours once a week. If you can answer phones, photocopy information, file, type, or staple – WE NEED YOU!!! Nice office with friendly people – Good time guaranteed! Come and join us – Please call and we will get you going.

Also needed:

- * Additional people to be on the Emergency Call List to respond to the occasional off hours alarms
- * Audio/visual people to run the camera for services. No experience needed

TREE OF LIFE

Consistent with our belief, our Tree of Life, on the Lobby wall next to the office, commemorates simchas and life cycle events, such as special birthdays, anniversaries, or Bar & Bat Mitzvahs with an engraved leaf. We look forward to members making a contribution to the Temple and honoring their loved ones or commemorating an event by adding a leaf to the tree in their name. As in the past years, each leaf remains as a $300.00 donation to the synagogue. This is a lovely way to commemorate a special milestone for your family, and support Temple Beth Shalom.

Please call Nan Rubin at 623-933-1412, or the Temple office at 623-977-3240, to order your special leaf.
